Planning for Retirement

Introduction

The purpose of this guide is to provide important information to regular staff and faculty who are starting to consider or are currently planning retirement from the George Washington University. This guide is a general overview of the benefits currently available to retirees. GW retains the right to change or terminate retiree benefits with or without notice.

We encourage you to review this information in detail. Consult directly with Benefits Administration, insurance carrier representatives, and the Social Security Administration, as applicable, for more comprehensive information about your benefits. The information in this guide is not intended to advise you which particular retirement choices are most appropriate for you or your family. Those decisions should be made by you, in consultation with your family and financial advisors.

The “Benefit Contacts and Additional Information” section on page 14 contains information to assist you in locating the appropriate benefit carrier or agency to contact when you need additional assistance. Telephone numbers and addresses for benefit carriers are included in this section. Please retain this information in a convenient place so you can use it as a reference.

If you elect not to continue your medical coverage at the time you retire, you will not be eligible to participate in the GW medical plan in the future. For more information on group health plan benefits available to you after retirement, please see page 8.

Please note: You will receive a COBRA notice from PayFlex for your medical, dental and vision plans. If you are planning to select retiree medical, dental and/or vision you may disregard the COBRA notice.

Health Advocate

Current Recipients of Long Term Disability Benefits
Faculty and staff who are disabled and are receiving benefits under the group long term disability plan provided by the university may continue to receive payments past retirement age, depending on the date of disability. However, your disability payments may be offset by some portion of your retirement benefits. For more detailed information, please contact Benefits Administration at 703-726-8362.

Retirees with less than ten years of full time equivalent service who retire at the normal retirement date retain tuition benefits for themselves, their spouse or domestic partner, and eligible dependent children who are already using the benefit at the time of retirement.

The level of benefits is based on the retiree's initial date of regular employment and their years of service credit. Eligible dependents of retirees may also participate in the Tuition Exchange Program on a space available basis.

Retirement Plans

University and employee contributions to the retirement plans end at retirement. Prior to your retirement, you should contact your investment provider(s) to request an analysis of the options available to you upon retirement, and the necessary forms for distribution. Rules regarding the transfer or withdrawal of retirement funds vary. You should consult with your provider(s) and with the Benefits Administration Department for more information.

Investment representatives with TIAA-CREF, The Equitable and Fidelity will provide you with the necessary forms which you must complete to begin receiving your retirement funds. If you request, they will also provide you with illustrations of the options available to you upon retirement. The phone numbers for the providers are listed below:

- TIAA-CREF     1-800-842-2776
- The Equitable  1-800-248-2138
- Fidelity Investments 1-800-343-0860

GW is required to verify your status as a retiree for retirement plan distributions. Please send the completed forms to the Benefits Administration department for verification. Include the entire form and not just the signature page. Please be sure that the form is completed and signed before sending it to Benefits Administration. If you have questions regarding how to complete the distribution form, please contact the appropriate investment representative at the number above. Please allow two days for processing at GW and an additional two to three days for processing by the provider.

If you have a specific problem or need additional assistance, please feel free to contact your investment carrier(s) directly.
Continuation of GW Group Medical, Dental and Vision Insurance

Medical Plans

To be eligible for medical insurance through the University during retirement, an employee must be enrolled in a medical insurance plan through the University at the time of retirement. Employees eligible for retirement from the university continue their current medical coverage or change to a different medical plan as needed. (Please note: If an employee does not elect to continue GW group medical coverage at the time of retirement, he or she will not be able to enroll in any university-sponsored medical plan in the future.) The university will help defray the cost of premiums during the first eight years of retirement for retirees enrolled in GW’s plans. The university’s contribution will terminate December 31st of the calendar year in which the retiree completes his or her eighth year of retirement.

• If you and your dependents are not eligible for Medicare, you can elect to continue your current UHC health coverage through the university.

• If you or any of your dependents are Medicare eligible and you wish to continue your coverage with GW, you must elect UHC Blue 65 PPO.

Finding a Physician

UnitedHealthcare (UHC) has one of the largest networks in the nation, with more than 520,000 doctors and 4,700 hospitals. All of the UHC plans offered by GW are national plans, so almost anywhere you are in the country, you’ll be able to find a network doctor or hospital and get the same benefit coverage level you find at home.

To locate a physician, go to www.myuhc.com and select “Find a Physician”. You will be asked to select a plan:

• If you are participating in the Choice Plus - Basic or Choice Plus – Medium plans, please select “UnitedHealthcare Choice Plus”.
• If you are participating in the Choice-Premium (In-Network Only) plan, please select “UnitedHealthcare Choice”.
• If you are participating in the UHC Blue 65 PPO, please select “UnitedHealthcare Options PPO”.

Dental and Vision Plans

To be eligible to continue dental and/or vision insurance plans through the university at the time of retirement, an employee must be enrolled in the plans through the university. If a retiree is not currently enrolled at the time of retirement but later wishes to enroll, he/she will need to wait to enroll during the following open enrollment period.

Retirees who elect to continue the GW group medical, vision and/or dental coverage will be billed monthly by PayFlex which is a contracted university service.

The following information pertains to retiree group medical, dental and vision coverage:
Changing Plan Options

Retirees may reduce their coverage option (for example, change from family to two-party, or from two-party to individual coverage) at any time. However, changes to increase coverage may only be made during open enrollment periods, or within 30 days of a qualified life event (QLE), such as birth of a baby or marriage.

Cost

The university makes a monthly contribution to defray the cost of medical insurance within the first eight years of retirement for retirees enrolled in health plans offered through GW. Please review the “Benefits Guide for Retired Faculty” or “Benefits Guide for Retired Staff”, whichever is appropriate, to review specific premium information for the various family and Medicare statuses.

Open Enrollment

Retirees will be notified of changes in health plans offered by the university in advance of scheduled open enrollment periods. Open enrollment is generally in October or November, with an effective date of January 1. Changes in rates, coverage, or services effective with the next plan year will be announced at this time. During open enrollment, you may increase coverage to a two-party or family plan. A newly added spouse or dependent is subject to a pre-existing condition clause unless he or she can demonstrate prior coverage.

Coordination of Benefit Coverage

If you are a retired employee and are eligible for Medicare in addition to the group health coverage with GW, your Medicare plan(s) will pay as the primary carrier and GW will serve as the secondary payer. Claims must be sent to the primary carrier first. Any claims unpaid by the primary carrier should be submitted to the secondary payer.

If you are a retired employee age 65 or older and are not enrolled in Medicare Part B, the GW plan will apply the deductibles, copayments and other plan limits and pay the remaining charges minus what Medicare Part B would have paid. You will be responsible for any charges not covered by the GW plan.

Retiree Health Benefits For Retirement Prior to Age 65

Employees who retire prior to age 65 will not be eligible to receive Medicare benefits until they reach age 65 or until otherwise eligible by law. Group coverage may be continued through GW at the retiree rate.

Retiree Health Benefits For Retirement after Age 65

Employees who retire at or after age 65 will be eligible to receive Medicare benefits. Group coverage may also be continued through GW at the retiree rate. Medicare will serve as the primary insurance carrier, and GW (and any other insurer) will serve as the secondary payer. People who have previously waived Medicare Part B due to group health plan coverage through GW may elect to enroll at retirement.
You must contact the Social Security Administration regarding your eligibility for Medicare Benefits. A retiree who opts to remain enrolled in one of GW's group health plans must send verification of Medicare coverage to Benefits Administration upon receipt. PayFlex will advise the appropriate group health insurance carrier that the retiree is also now enrolled in Medicare (Part A and/or B), and that GW will no longer be the primary payer.

Coverage for Spouses, Domestic Partners and Dependent Children

Upon retirement, you may elect to continue or discontinue the participation of your spouse, domestic partner, or dependent children who are currently enrolled under your university health plan. If your spouse, domestic partner or dependents are not participants at the time of your retirement, they may only be added to your plan during scheduled open enrollment periods or within 30 days of a qualifying life event (QLE). It is important that you notify Benefits Administration of any changes in your family status that may affect your coverage.

COBRA Coverage

Federal Regulations (COBRA) require the university to notify you of your right to continue group health coverage through GW. Therefore, you will be receiving a COBRA notification from PayFlex via mail at the time of retirement. However, if you elected to continue your coverage through the university retiree benefits program please ignore the COBRA notice.

In the event that your spouse or child becomes ineligible to participate in the university group health plan through divorce, legal separation, age or student status (in the case of dependents), they may continue participation in the university group health plan under COBRA. You must notify Benefits Administration within 60 days if one of above events occurs in order to maintain COBRA eligibility.

COBRA provides continuation of coverage rights for spouse and dependents for a maximum of 36 months. During the period of COBRA coverage, participants are responsible for paying the entire cost of the insurance premium, plus an administrative fee. Our COBRA program is administered through PayFlex. Information is available from Benefits Administration.

Additionally, your spouse and dependents have some protection from pre-existing conditions when changing benefit plans. You, your spouse, or dependents will automatically receive a Certificate of Creditable Coverage when coverage with the university group health insurance plan is terminated. The Certificate of Creditable Coverage will verify periods of health coverage which may be credited toward the reduction of pre-existing condition clauses in the future.

Continued Coverage upon the Retiree's Death

In the unfortunate event that a retiree should die, group health coverage can be continued for the spouse or domestic partner and dependents. The spouse or domestic partner may continue indefinitely. The dependents may continue on the plan as long as they meet the requirements of a dependent (after which they would be eligible for COBRA coverage).
Medicare Benefits

The Medicare Program has three parts: Part A, Part B, and Part D. Medicare becomes available at the beginning of the month in which you turn 65, whether you are retired or still working. You may defer enrollment in Part B until retirement.

The Social Security Administration will notify persons who are approaching age 65 of eligibility for benefits. However, we strongly advise you to contact your local office at least 90 days prior to your 65th birthday to apply.

What is Covered

Medicare Part A  Pays part of the cost of hospitalization, certain related inpatient care, skilled nursing facility or psychiatric hospital care, home health services, hospice care, and some durable medical equipment.

Medicare Part B  Pays for physician services, physical therapy, diagnostic x-ray, laboratory fees, most out-patient services, and certain related services.

Medicare Part D  Helps with the cost of prescription drugs.

Enrollment

Medicare Part A  Once you have applied for Social Security and your eligibility has been confirmed, you are automatically enrolled in Part A.

Medicare Part B  Enrollment in Part B is optional, and you are not automatically enrolled in Part B when you become entitled to Part A. You must contact Medicare to enroll in Part B. If you are still employed at age 65, Medicare will allow you to defer enrollment in Part B until you terminate employment or waive plan coverage through GW.

There is a penalty equal to 10% of the premium for each twelve-month period after you are first eligible, but not enrolled in Part B. The penalty amount will be added to subsequent premiums. You may defer enrollment past age 65 without penalty if you are still employed and participating in a group health plan or if your spouse is an active employee and you are covered under his or her group plan. Upon retirement, persons who wish to enroll in Part B must notify the Social Security Administration. You should notify Social Security at least 90 days prior to your retirement, to allow sufficient time to process coverage by the effective date of your retirement, to avoid the 10% penalty to future premiums.

Medicare Part D  Enrollment in Part D is optional.
Cost

Medicare Part A  Part A is provided at no additional cost to you.

Medicare Part B  Medicare Part B is financed by monthly premiums from enrollees in the program and general revenue from the federal government. These premiums are ordinarily deducted from any Social Security benefits you receive.

If you choose not to enroll in Part B when first eligible you may have to pay a higher premium once you do enroll. You will pay 10% more for each full 12-month period that you did not participate because of the reasons given above. This penalty begins at your 65th birthday, unless you are covered under an active medical plan, and is cumulative. Persons who have waived enrollment in Part B by virtue of enrollment in another health plan will not be subject to the 10% penalty.

Medicare Part D  Medicare Part D is financed by monthly premiums from enrollees in the program and by general revenue from the federal government. These premiums are ordinarily deducted from any Social Security benefits you receive.

Limitations in Medicare Coverage

Medicare does not provide complete health protection, and coinsurance and deductibles apply to many covered services. A deductible is the amount of out-of-pocket expense that must be incurred before Medicare will pay for a covered expense. Coinsurance is the portion or percentage of Medicare's approved amounts that you are responsible for paying. In some cases, the cost of deductibles and coinsurance payments may be substantial. For example, Medicare generally does not cover charges for expenses which occur outside of the U.S. or territories. You may elect to continue coverage through GW or obtain a Medigap policy to supplement coverage, depending on your needs.

Medigap Insurance

Medigap policies are only available for Medicare participants. These voluntary contributory private insurance plans are available to cover the cost of deductibles, coinsurance payments, and other charges not covered under Medicare. Medigap insurance plans are regulated by federal and state law and must be clearly identified as Medicare supplemental insurance.

Persons generally enroll in Medigap policies when Medicare serves as the sole provider of medical services and there is no secondary insurance policy to cover unpaid medical expenses. Federal law prohibits issuing duplicate coverage to Medicare beneficiaries, even if a combination of policies would pay full benefits.

There are ten (10) different types of Medigap plans, each with a letter designation ranging from the basic plan "A" to the most comprehensive plan "J". The plans are standardized to ensure that insurance carriers provide the same combination of benefits for each lettered plan, regardless of which plans are made available. All Medigap insurance carriers are required to offer at least the basic plan "A".
If you are 65 or older, state and federal laws guarantee that for a period of six (6) months from the date you first enroll in Medicare Part B, you have a right to buy the Medigap policy of your choice. You cannot be denied Medigap insurance within this time period, although you may not be covered for pre-existing conditions within the first six months of the effective date of your policy. Periods of creditable coverage under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act may decrease this six-month period.
